CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER'S LETTER

November 25, 2024

I am pleased to report on the performance of CalPERS' investments and the operations and initiatives of the Investment Office for the one-year period ending on June 30, 2024.

The Public Employees' Retirement Fund (PERF) earned a time-weighted net rate of return of 9.3 percent, exceeding the discount rate of 6.8 percent. The ending fair value of investments at June 30, 2024, was $551.4 billion and the overall funded status of the PERF improved to 75 percent.

Long-term return rates provide a comprehensive look at efforts to secure lifetime benefits for our members. Total PERF annualized returns for the five-year period were 6.6 percent; the 10-year period at 6.2 percent; and the 20-year period at 6.7 percent. The 30-year return rate rose slightly to 7.7 percent.

The public equity asset class, comprising 41.9 percent of the PERF, performed exceptionally well, earning a 17.5 percent return. Public equity outperformed its benchmark by 46 basis points over the one-year period. The private debt asset class, established in 2022, also performed strongly with a 17 percent return. Fixed income and private equity earned returns of 3.7 percent and 10.9 percent, respectively. Real assets generated a negative one-year return with positive relative returns of 473 basis points against the policy benchmark.

During the mid-cycle asset allocation review, the Board of Administration sought to raise the PERF's long-term annualized returns and approved an Investment Office proposal to seize on the strong and ongoing growth in private equity and increase CalPERS' exposure to private markets. The investment team presented private equity's 20-year annualized returns of 12.1 percent, making it the top performing asset class of the Fund over that period. As a result of the board's approval, total private asset allocations will increase from 33 percent of plan assets to 40 percent. Private equity will increase from a target of 13 percent of the fund to 17 percent. Private debt will increase to 8 percent. Target allocations for public equity and fixed income will decrease to 37 percent and 28 percent, respectively. The target allocation for real assets will not change.

The increased allocation to private assets reinforces the need for the stringent set of labor principles adopted by the board last year. These principles call for the freedom of association of workers, elimination of all forms of compulsory labor, effective abolition of child labor, elimination of workplace discrimination, and the maintenance of safe and healthy working environments. CalPERS will rely on the principles in future engagements with firms operating in these markets. Furthermore, they highlight our strong commitment to sustainable investing.

In line with that commitment, the investment team presented the Sustainable Investments 2030 Strategy to the board last fall. A major key performance indicator of the strategy is the $100 Billion Climate Action Plan. The plan will more than double the allocation toward climate solutions by 2030 and takes advantage of the investment opportunities made possible due to the transition to a low-carbon economy. Importantly, it accelerates the portfolio's move to net zero emissions. The strategy also outlines efforts to diversify corporate leadership and calls for better management of human capital by advocating for more corporate reporting, improved workforce valuations, and promotes sound labor practices.

CalPERS' status as a shareholder in publicly traded corporations gives the right to call for action in the boardroom on important issues, like labor practices, climate change, or corporate diversity. We were therefore alarmed when Exxon sued its own investors to force them to drop a shareholder proposal it didn't like and persisted with that lawsuit even after the proposal was withdrawn. In response to this attempt to silence shareholder voices, CalPERS took the unprecedented step of voting against every member of Exxon's board. Although ExxonMobil's suit was ultimately dismissed by the court, the corporate world was put on notice that CalPERS would zealously guard its shareholder rights.

The 2023 proxy voting report was released, which documents how CalPERS exercises those rights. The report summarizes efforts to hold corporate leaders to account in several critical areas including board independence, director accountability, oversight of climate-related risks, and executive compensation. For instance, our vote against Tesla CEO Elon Musk's exorbitant $46 billion pay package in May underscored CalPERS' long-standing position against excessive executive compensation deals that harm shareholders.

The strong investment returns in the fiscal year and the initiatives I have discussed would not have been possible without the hard work and dedication of the talented professionals in the Investment Office. Aiming to create a pipeline of new investment talent, we collaborated with Stanford University to develop the Long-Term Investing Fellowship Program, an apprenticeship for students to learn about investing and CalPERS' work. Through this program, we hope to train the future leadership of the Investment Office.

Our mission is to manage the CalPERS portfolio in an efficient and sustainable manner to generate risk-adjusted returns to pay benefits now and into the future. The departure of our former chief investment officer in 2023 prompted the board to embark on a search for a successor. In April 2024, the board named Stephen Gilmore of the top-performing New Zealand sovereign wealth fund to fill the role beginning in July 2024. We're excited to welcome Stephen to the Investment Office, and I know that he will be an effective steward of our members' hard-earned money.

The 2023-24 fiscal year saw the Investment Office deliver strong returns for our members, reinforce the commitment to sustainable investing, hold corporate leaders to account, and foster partnerships to train the next generation of talent. I am proud of what we accomplished and hope to build on our gains in the years ahead.

Our Investment Office team members, the board's pension consultant Wilshire Associates, and State Street Bank & Trust, our custodian, compiled the investment data presented on the following pages.
